From the Free Press. An Unpublished Autograph of Ethan Allen.

The special meeting of the Vermont Historical Society, recently held at Rutland, was one of the most successful sessions it has ever had; as respects the quality of the audience, the number and variety of the papers presented, the additions to the membersnips, and the general impetus given to the movements of the Society. It was decidedly the most successful as respects the acquisition of valuable historical documents. Among the most important of these may be mentioned the original Journal of the First Council of Censors (which met in 1785), a manuscript of twenty fools-cap pages, in the clear, bold autograph of Micah Townshend, Secretary; the Journal of the Second Council, which met in 1792, in the hand writing of Rosand New Hampshire controversies.

Perhaps no one of the papers is of greater general interest than the original complaint of Ethan Allen to the Court of Confiscation, charging his brother Levi with treachery to the State of Vermont, and praying that measures might be taken to punish him. Slade's State papers profess to give this document, but it is with omissions and alterations, which, though they improve the gram-mar, and possibly the rhetoric of the paper, rob it of not a little of the "old Ethan." For example, instead of the brief and expressive word "hurting," we have in Slade the circumlocation, PAPER COLLLARS Hespectfully solicit a share of the patronage of this community, feeling sure that they can give satisfaction in goods and prices. The following is an extract transcript of the original paper, rerbatim, literaiim, et punctuatim:

ETHAN ALLEN. In consequence of this complaint, Levi Allen's Lands were seized, and advertised for sale, and he was arrested and confined to jail more than six months. After his release, he sent his brother Ethan a format challenge to tight a duel with pistols, but it was not accepted. Levi was the most eccentric of the Allen brothers, and a memoir of him would be more entertaining than an average romance.

SINGULAR FREAKS OF LIGHTNING.

HAIR DRESSINGS AND DYES: The lightning played some curious and rather unpleasant pranks at the residence of Mr. John Stimson, No. 7 Oak Street, Cambridgeport, during the shower on Monday afternoon. The fluid struck an elm in front of the house, leaptorn from the walls, the glass in the furniture in all the rooms was thrown about and injured, and pieces were gouged out of tables, doors, &c., as if done with carpenters' tools. Two or three balls of fire played round on the floor of a room in which were six persons several of them children seated on the floor, and yet no one was injured or seriously affected by the dangerous element, although its influence was felt unpleasantly. No less than five balls of fire were seen to dance through the entry and roll down the cellar stairs, but where they made their exit from the premises cannot be discovered. The damage to the house was of course considerable, and altogether it was such a display of natural pyrotechnics as rarely happens, and one that the family would not care to have repeated. They are verythankful that so little harm was
